U.S. Reinstates Ban On Travel To Red Hungary

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—The United States cracked down on Communist Hungary today for "persecuting" Hungarian citizens who work for the American legation in Budapest and for imprisoning a husband-wife team who worked for American news services.

In a note bitterly denouncing the Red leadership of Hungary, the State Department notified Minister Karoly Szarka here:

1. That the travel of American citizens to Hungary is again being banned. The ban was lifted only last Oct. 31.

2. That new restrictions on the travel of Hungarian legation personnel in the United States will shortly be imposed.

Trade Talks Dropped
3. That the United States government is no longer interested in negotiating with Hungary on trade and other problems.

The note accused Hungary of "abridgement of freedom of the press," of failing to act as an "independent and responsible government" and of failing to "honor its international obligations and to show a decent respect for the rights of the Hungarian people."

The American action was the first of its kind since the good-will era of the Geneva summit conference. It was triggered by a series of Hungarian anti-American moves beginning with the arrest in February 1955 of Endre Marton, a Hungarian citizen who served as correspondent for the Associated Press at Budapest for many years.

Sentenced To Prison
About the same time Marton was arrested, a legation employee, Bela Kapotsi, was seized. Last June Mrs. Marton, correspondent for the United Press, was arrested and the same day the Red police seized another legation employee, Cornel Balas.

On Jan. 15 the Hungarian press announced the conviction and sentencing of all four on espionage charges. Marton was sentenced to six years in prison. Mrs. Marton to three years, Kapotsi to life imprisonment, Balas to eight years.

Ridgway Faces Quiz Wednesday

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway was scheduled today for congressional questioning next Wednesday about his magazine article charges that important military decisions were made for political reasons.

Rep. Sikes (D-Fla.) chairman of the House Appropriations subcommittee handling Army funds, said the former Army chief of staff would be quizzed behind closed doors by the full defense subcommittee headed by Rep. Mahon (D-Tex.).

Ridgway touched off a controversy by writing in the Saturday Evening Post that when he was Army chief of staff pressure was brought upon him to fit his ideas of Army needs into a "preconceived politico-military party line" based on budget considerations.

Sikes invited Ridgway to appear before the subcommittee and Ridgway replied he would hold himself in readiness to appear at "your convenience."

Cars Feared Buried In Huge Landslide

SANTA MONICA, Calif., Feb. 3 (INS)—The Pacific Coast Highway was blocked north of Santa Monica tonight by a huge landslide that crashed down on the road at the height of the homecoming traffic.

First reports indicated that some cars, possibly up to three, might be buried under the huge pile of rock and earth.

The slide occurred between Santa Monica Canyon and Sunset Boulevard. It completely covered the highway.

Dapper Eden Hails Success Of Conference

Easing Of Red China Trade Curbs Urged By British Leader

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—British Prime Minister Eden headed for Canada today after the cold war strategy conference with President Eisenhower which he said "exceeded my expectations."

Eden's busy week in Washington ended with his departure for Ottawa in a Royal Canadian Air Force plane. In a news conference this morning summing up his three days of talks with Eisenhower, Eden declared:

"The conference exceeded my expectations. It showed a very wide range of agreement. . . . No where did they fall short of my expectations."

Far-Ranging Conference
In his far-ranging news conference, Eden told more than 300 American and foreign correspondents:

1. Soviet Premier Bulganin's proposal for a 20-year friendship treaty with Britain, as well as the United States and France, is "remarkable" since only last year a similar Anglo-Soviet pact was "torn up" by the Kremlin in protest against formation of the Western European Union.

2. Britain favors a step-by-step easing of Western trade curbs on Red China to bring them to the same level as the less stringent embargo on Russia.

3. United Nations truce teams in the Middle East should be engaged in a stepped-up effort to keep the Arab-Israeli border friction from firing up the Palestine war again.

4. Britain and the United States are firmly agreed Germany should be reunified through free elections.

Precise Answers Avoided
The dapper Eden, alternately joking and serious, ran a gamut of foreign policy questions as he stood in the glare of television lights.

Eden avoided precise answers on a good many questions. He begged off on a variety of grounds—it already was made clear in his joint statement with Eisenhower, it involved national security questions, it was something to be asked of somebody else.

But he made plain that Britain got no clear commitment from the United States on its proposal to ease Red China trade curbs gradually.

Brazil Granted
American Loan
VOLTA REDONDA, Brazil, Feb. 3 (AP)—The United States had agreed to lend Brazil an additional 35 million dollars for development of its big Volta Redonda steel mill.

Vice President Richard Nixon announced this today as was Brazil's new President, Juscelino Kubitschek, toured this sprawling steel center. The U.S.-controlled Export-Import Bank previously loaned 70 million dollars for erection and expansion of the government-owned plant.

The new loan will enable the mill to nearly double its annual output capacity to a million tons, Nixon said.

Nixon, who came here to attend Kubitschek's inauguration, has held a series of conferences with Brazilian officials on Brazil's problems of inflation and foreign exchange shortage. A high government source said Nixon told Kubitschek the United States is willing to extend Brazil considerable economic aid provided the new government takes a strong stand against communism.

Kubitschek assured Nixon this was being done, the informant said. The Communist party already is outlawed in Brazil and the circulation of Communist literature is prohibited.

Burglar In Woodward
Case Gets 10-20 Years
MINEOLA, N.Y., Feb. 3 (AP)—Paul Wirths, the blundering burglar whose prowling panicked Mrs. William Woodward Jr., into shooting her millionaire husband, was sentenced today to 10 to 20 years in prison.

Mrs. Ann Woodward said she was frightened by sounds in the night Oct. 30 and fired into the dark at what she thought was a prowler. The shotgun blast killed her husband, owner of the famed racehorse Nashua. A grand jury last November exonerated Mrs. Woodward of any criminal guilt and called the slaying an accident.

OFFERED $2,500—Sen. Francis Case (R-SD) poses at the Capitol after charging in a Senate speech yesterday that he was offered a $2,500 campaign contribution by someone interested in passage of the natural gas bill. Case announced he planned to vote against the measure which would exempt gas producers from direct federal control of their prices. (AP Photofax)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—Sen. Case (R-SD) threw the Senate into an uproar today with a statement that he had been offered a $2,500 campaign contribution by a lawyer interested in passage of the natural gas bill.

Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark), a supporter of the bill, said Case was making "a serious charge of attempted bribery," and there were immediate calls for an investigation.

Senatorial backers of the legislation, obviously upset about the effect Case's statement would have on voting scheduled to start Monday, demanded the name of the man who offered the money.

So far, Case has refused to disclose it.

Contribution Declined
He said the proffered contribution, which he declined to accept, had decided him to vote against the controversial bill. It is a measure to exempt natural gas producers from utility-type regulation by the Federal Power Commission.

"When the passage of a bill becomes so alluring that dollars are advanced to potential candidates even before primaries are held, warning signals go up," Case told his colleagues.

He said the size of the offer showed that "windfall profits are expected by some people if the bill is passed, and that this 'tended to support the charges that there were some extraordinary profits' involved."

Senate Leaders, Case Confer
When the Senate quitted for the day, three of its top leaders, majority leader Johnson (D-Tex.), minority leader Knowland (R-Calif.) and Sen. Bridges (R-NH), chairman of the GOP Policy Committee in the Senate, spent half an hour with Case in the Republican cloakroom, discussing his report.

Johnson, a supporter of the bill, reported Case "did not want to divulge" the name of the man who offered the contribution, and did not do so. He said he understood Case would check on the matter further in his home state.

Johnson said the cloakroom discussion did not touch on whether the vote on the bill would proceed as scheduled on Monday.

"Nothing was decided," he said. "If we reach any decisions tomorrow, I'll let you know."

Hughes Is Freed
In Perjury Case
NEW YORK, Feb. 3 (AP)—Paul H. Hughes, Washington private investigator, went free today after a federal jury acquitted him on two counts of a six-count perjury indictment.

The jury said it was "hopelessly deadlocked" on the remaining four counts. It had deliberated 11 hours. U.S. Atty. Paul W. Williams said it was "inconceivable" the government would seek a new trial.

As he walked out of the courtroom smiling, Hughes said: "The first thing on my list is to look up Sen. McCarthy. I think I ought to make an apology for my trouble and embarrassment I have caused him."

Hughes, 35, was accused of lying to a federal grand jury investigating Harvey Matusow, who turned FBI informant against Red leaders, then recanted his testimony.

Hughes testified that he was a tool in a political plot against McCarthy.

In Washington today, McCarthy commented:

"I am very happy that Hughes was acquitted—he was just a small fry in a conspiracy to smear and defame me. It would have been had justice if he went to jail and the rest went free."

Suit Opposes VFW
Convention In Dallas
WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—A group of Philadelphians sued today to bar the Veterans of Foreign Wars from holding this summer's convention in Dallas, Tex., because of the city's racial laws.

The suit for an injunction, filed in U. S. District Court, was brought by a group composed of past and present officeholders in the organization.

Their petition said that holding the convention in Dallas would mean Negro members would be subject to restrictions in regard to hotels, restaurants and transportation and would not have equal privileges at various functions.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey today opposed standby consumer credit controls, despite President Eisenhower's suggestion to Congress that this would be a good time to "study the problem."

Eisenhower did not ask that such controls be imposed now—only that consideration be given to authorizing his administration to invoke them when and if necessary.

Humphrey, a consistent opponent of direct government controls on the economy, told the Senate-House Economic Committee that the government is taking on "a lot of responsibility when you tell 167 million people what they can afford to buy."

Despite a sharp rise in consumer debt last year there has been no move in Congress to restore the authority to impose installment buying curbs, which expired in 1952.

Estimates Questioned
The Treasury Cabinet officer also said:

1. He has little faith in the correctness of economic activity estimates prepared by Eisenhower's Council of Economic Advisers.

2. He sees "nothing alarming" to the general economy in the decline of farm prices.

3. "Our present estimates do not give any grounds for tax reduction, no grounds at all."

Humphrey and Chairman Douglas (D-Ill.) engaged in several sharp exchanges during a hearing on the President's economic report. Each described the other as a "prophet of gloom and doom."

Basis Of Ike's Budget
Humphrey told a news conference on Jan. 14 the President's new budget was based on expectations that personal income would total $305,000,000 in 1956, and corporate profits would total 43 billion dollars.

Douglas contended this meant that Humphrey looked for no economic growth in 1956 because the figures he gave were close to the 1955 year-end annual rates as estimated by the Council of Economic Advisers.

Humphrey said such estimates were "wild" and pointed out that in past years similar estimates have been radically revised as time went on.

5 Above Zero In Paris
Four more, including a woman and 20-year-old child, were believed frozen to death in a fishing boat trapped in the ice off Holland. Paris had its coldest Feb. 2 in 75 years when the temperature dropped to 5 above zero.

All over the Continent damage mounted from pipes and drains cracked by the freeze. Many European buildings have uninsulated and exposed plumbing, added after the structures were completed. In some cities gas pipes were cracked. Fuel deliveries were slow.

Family Plagued By Death,
Illness Gets Slight Break
CHICAGO, Feb. 3 (AP)—A little family plagued by death, illness and destitution got a slight break today.

The Joseph Galls learned that they will have a roof over their heads at least while they face up to their problems and sorrows.

Their landlord's suit to evict them was dropped.

But the Galls still have troubles and anguish.

Gall, 29, is jobless.

A son, Robert, 14 months, is suffering from pneumonia in a hospital.

Another son, James 4½, lies dead.

It was the sudden death of James last night that focused public attention on the family.

James was killed by a Chicago Transit Authority bus. His mother, Betty, 28, told newsmen:

"The door was open and James grabbed it, preparing to get aboard. Just then the door slammed shut and the bus moved forward."

"My boy slipped under the wheels and was crushed right before my eyes."

The driver, George Van Loan, said he had not seen James or his mother, who had approached the bus from the rear.

The Galls, who also have a 6-year-old daughter, Gloria Jean, were due in court today in the eviction proceedings.

But the landlord called on the Galls today and said:

"Forget about the eviction. I told my lawyer to withdraw the suit immediately. Is there anything I can do to help?"

A coroner's jury decided James' death was accidental.

W. Va. House Backs Turnpike Proposal

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Feb. 3 (AP)—A resolution to permit West Virginia citizens to vote on a $200,000,000 turnpike financing proposal cleared the House today, but still faces another big legislative hurdle across the Capitol in the Senate.

Sixty-one Democrats and 16 Republicans teamed up to put the resolution on the House with 10 votes to spare over the required two-thirds majority.

The vote was 77-16, with nine Democrats and seven Republicans voting no.

When the House passed the measure, it was sent to the Judiciary Committee, which will meet Monday morning to consider the resolution. Both houses adjourned until 2 p.m. Monday, at the end of today's sessions.

The proposed constitutional amendment which the resolution would submit to the voters next November is on the question of putting the state's credit behind issuance of up to $200,000,000 worth of bonds to finance extension of the West Virginia Turnpike.

The way was cleared this afternoon for putting divergent Senate and House versions of the budget bill into a conference committee the first of next week. It will be the committee's job to compromise the differences between the two versions.

A House version calling for approximately $99,700,000 in spending from the general revenue fund in the next fiscal year was approved by a 67-15 vote in that chamber, and was sent to the Senate. All 15 dissenting votes came from the Republican side.

The Senate then amended the House-passed bill by substituting all of the provisions of the $93,500,000 Senate version, and passing it 31-0. All that remains to be done before the measure is handed to a conference committee is for the House to refuse to accept the Senate amendments and for the Senate to refuse to back down from its position.

Accounting for most of the difference between the two versions are $5,400,000 worth of tax measures which the House passed earlier this week to finance a teachers' salary increase. The Senate has not acted on the tax bills.

A companion measure to the bill to increase the legal minimum salaries of public school teachers passed the House by a 70-12 margin and was sent to the Senate. It is designed to insure that counties will get enough state money to pay their portion of the $6,400,000 cost of the raises.

Gasoline Turns Boy Into Torch

BALTIMORE, Feb. 3 (AP)—A 15-year-old boy trying to start a fire in a woodstove with a five-gallon can of gasoline died a flaming torch today.

Police said the boy, William Edward Fidler Jr., was alone in the kitchen of his home while his mother and two sisters were in other rooms. The gasoline can from which William was pouring burst suddenly, hurling flaming liquid all over him.

His mother said he ran screaming from the kitchen into the living room where his older sister, Anna Marie, 17, threw two overcoats around him in an attempt to smother the flames. But she was unable to put out the fire as her brother fell unconscious to the floor.

Mrs. Mildred Fidler said she grabbed up her 4-month-old daughter, telephoned police and dashed out of the house with Anna Marie. Patrolman James Young and Richard Marks, arriving before firemen, crawled on their stomachs to where William was lying and put out the flames with a hand extinguisher.

Ohio Governor Files As Senate Candidate

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Feb. 3 (AP)—Democratic Gov. Frank J. Lausche today filed as a candidate for the seat now held by Ohio's junior Republican U.S. senator, George H. Bender.

Bender filed recently for re-nomination with the blessings of President Eisenhower and members of his Cabinet.

Lack of opposition in the May 8 primaries apparently assured both political veterans of nomination and the right to oppose each other in the Nov. 6 payoff election. The prospective clash has stirred national interest.

Hagerstown To Annex Sites For Two Schools

HAGERSTOWN, Feb. 3 (AP)—The mayor and city council today agreed to annex two tracts of 90 acres bordering the present city limits as the sites for two new schools.

Another 100 or more acres also will be taken into the city, they decided, after a study shows whether the necessary survey work should be undertaken by the city or the property owners.

Gas Is Ruled Out As Cause Of Fire

BALTIMORE, Feb. 3 (AP)—Investigators today ruled out gas as a cause of the blaze that took 15 lives last Sunday.

The investigating team did not elaborate.

Many of those attending the oyster roast in an Anne Arundel County hall had reported seeing flames around a gas heater in the ceiling.

Ten women were killed and 200 injured in the fire and ensuing panic.

In another development County Building Inspector, John Hevener, said the hall was not overcrowded and that it had adequate exits, not counting some wide overhead doors, which the county code does not classify as doors, there were seven exits. Two were locked—one into a cocktail lounge and one into a milkbar.

Hevener said the hall contained 12,800 square feet of space. Since the county code requires 10 square feet per person, the hall would accommodate 1,280 persons safely, he said. Attendance at the oyster roast was estimated at about 1,200.

The investigating team said it was seeking "witnesses who know anything about a fire on the outside of the building before it was seen inside." They also want to talk to everyone who was working in the kitchen, and to anyone who knows where the 10 killed were when the fire broke out and their subsequent movements.

Fire Halted By Water Brought In By Train

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Feb. 3 (AP)—Water was hauled in railroad engines, milk trucks, oil trucks, fire trucks and even by bucket to stop flames that caused $85,000 in damages today to the Maugansville Elevator and Lumber Co.

Sixty firemen from three fire companies saved the plant's main lumber storage sheds and grain elevators.

Wrecked were the building housing offices and planing mill and some sheds.

Two firemen were treated for burns.

Two Pennsylvania Railroad steam engines brought in 20,000 gallons of water. Other water was hauled about a mile in trucks. And some was pumped from cisterns and wells.

Kinsey Book Sales Off

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 3 (AP)—Royalties on Dr. Alfred C. Kinsey's two books on sex behavior in humans dropped 99 per cent in 1955 from the preceding year.

In a report to the secretary of state, Indiana University's Institute for Sex Research said royalties totaled $309,079.64 in 1954 and dropped to $3,001.27 last year.

Sailor Sealed In Refrigerator Car Three Days

CHICAGO, Feb. 3 (AP)—A Navy recruit, his body temperature down to 68 degrees, was found unconscious today in a railroad refrigerator car which was believed to have been sealed from three to five days.

Charles William Love, 18, Reed, Ky., assigned to the nearby Great Lakes Naval Training Center, was rushed to a hospital where physicians "thawed" him gradually.

Unable To Speak

They placed him in a room with windows wide open. As his body temperature started to rise, they wrapped him in blankets. Physicians then fed him dextrose and injected plasma.

Two hours after his arrival at Southtown Hospital he was conscious but unable to speak and explain how he happened to be in the car. His temperature was at 94.8 degrees compared with the normal 98.6.

Officials at Great Lakes said Love had been listed as absent without leave since Monday.

Found By Car Washers

Love was found when laborers in the Santa Fe freight yards opened the car to wash it. He appeared dead. His hands were badly mangled, apparently from beating on the door.

However, a railroad official who was summoned spotted a slight movement and called firemen who took the youth to the hospital. Physicians said the youth apparently ate carrots and potatoes while in the car and that his arms and legs escaped freezing. No amputation was believed necessary.

It's Fort Detrick Instead Of Camp

FREDERICK, Feb. 3 (AP)—The Army today changed the name of Camp Detrick, chemical corps installation outside Frederick, to Fort Detrick.

While it doesn't appear to amount to much on the surface, the significance to Frederick is that the Army considers a fort a permanent facility and a camp a temporary one.

This puts the official stamp on the feeling that Detrick is here to stay.

The site originally was a municipal airport which the National Guard later used. In 1931 it was dedicated as Detrick Field, in memory of Maj. Louis Detrick, a World War I flight surgeon.

The area was leased by the government from the city in 1940, which began improving the property. Three years later it was formally taken over as a chemical warfare installation.

Farm Support Pool Down To $800 Million

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—The Agriculture Department has less than 800 million dollars left out of its 12-billion-dollar price support pool.

More than 11 billion dollars is tied up in surplus farm commodities, government storage bins and deficits or losses incurred in carrying out price support operations, wheat export subsidies and other programs.

Officials said today the remaining portion of the fund should be sufficient to carry out price support commitments on 1955 production.

But additional money may be needed, they said, for 1956 crop operations unless farmers cut back production sharply under a proposed soil bank program and consequently need little price support aid.

As of Dec. 31, the department had a record $8,666,309,000 invested in farm surpluses. While figures had not yet been rounded up for January, officials said the surplus investment undoubtedly has climbed close to the nine-billion-dollar mark.

Four Tots And Dog Lose Lives In Fire

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Feb. 3 (AP)—Flames from a freshly filled space heater engulfed a second floor bedroom near here today, burning to death four tots and their pet dog.

Three of the children, ranging in age from 8 months to 5 years, were found huddled under beds. The body of the fourth was on the floor.

Overcooked Meat No Reason To Hit Wife, Judge Rules

BALTIMORE, Feb. 3 (AP)—Ernest Hinton, 28, likes his meat rare but he complained, he always gets it well done.

Magistrate Linwood Koger reasoned that meat may be overcooked, but that doesn't mean it's bad. And that's no reason, anyway, for Hinton to hit his wife, he said.

He gave Hinton a three-months suspended sentence today with probation for 18 months — during which time he must eat his wife's cooking without argument.

Mollet Will Fly To Algeria For Policy Huddles

PARIS, Feb. 3 (AP)—Faced by a tide of opposition across the Mediterranean, Premier Guy Mollet prepared today to run interference for his new resident minister for Algerian affairs, Gen. Georges Catroux.

The first session of Mollet's left-center coalition Cabinet decided to delay Catroux's installation in Algiers until next Friday. Mollet will fly to Algiers Monday for conferences with French and native leaders.

The Premier and his Cabinet acted after a lengthy study of reports on the mass demonstration yesterday in Algiers against Catroux and against Mollet's reform policy for halting the 15-month-old rebellion of Arab nationalists.

Mollet emphasized his own role in Algerian policy in a statement after Cabinet session. He said:

"The conception of French policy is a matter for the Cabinet and is worked out under the direct responsibility of the Premier, who, to be precise, is the No. 1 person responsible."

No date was fixed for Catroux's arrival in Algiers, nor was the duration of Mollet's stay there specified.

Catroux told two Paris newspapers, Le Monde and France-Soir, in separate interviews that "integration" of Algeria as part of France is now outdated and no longer acceptable to the Moslem masses. He held forth a vague sort of federalism which would respect the "Algerian personality" as the best course.

"In any case," he told Le Monde, "there can be no question of loosening the ties which bind Algeria to metropolitan France."

Westinghouse Talks Speeded

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—The government tonight stepped up efforts to settle the 110-day-old Westinghouse Electric Corp. strike by arranging to keep talks going far into the night and probably most of the weekend.

Director Joseph F. Finnegan of the Federal Mediation Service, apparently concentrating mostly on representatives of the striking union, again declined to indicate what progress had been made in any three days of Washington talks.

Asked if any areas of agreement have been worked out, he said he would avoid saying anything on that score "until such time as we may have a complete signed agreement."

The stepped up pace of negotiations, plus Finnegan's guarded comment, appeared to hint that at least some progress was being made.

Jane Sensabaugh To Be Bride Of Gerald Arthur

Miss Elizabeth Jane Sensabaugh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orrie R. Sensabaugh, 503 Decatur Street, will become the bride of Arthur Gerald Arthur, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Arthur, 814 Louisiana Avenue, today. The wedding ceremony will be solemnized at 2 p. m. in St. John's Lutheran Church with Rev. Frederick Eckert officiating. Bouquets of white flowers decorate the altar.

The bride is having Miss Sylvia Carolan, her cousin, as her maid of honor and her sister, Tana Sensabaugh, for her junior bridesmaid. Jack Schrotel, Frederick, will serve as Mr. Arthur's best man, while Robert Ayers and Charles Welch will be the ushers. A program of nuptial music and the traditional wedding marches will be played by Mrs. Richard Fey.

The bride will wear a white embroidered satin-cotton gown, fashioned on princess lines, with a fitted bodice, ballerina-length skirt and bolero jacket, buttoned at the throat, and elbow-length sleeves; and white kid slippers. A matching headband, trimmed in pearls, holds her shoulder-length nylon net veil. Completing her costume she will carry a white Bible, topped with a white rosebud corsage and satin streamers. Her only ornament will be a real pearl necklace.

Her attendants' gowns are of blue satin-cotton. They are ballerina-length on princess lines, similar to the bride's. With them they will wear matching Queen Anne head-dress, and the maid of honor will have a short veil. Their colonial bouquets are of pink rosebuds and snapdragons.

Mrs. Sensabaugh has chosen a light blue moire gown for her daughter's wedding. It has a tight bodice, three-quarter-length sleeves and jacket buttoned down the front. With it she will wear a black straw hat, trimmed in pink flowers and a corsage of pink rosebuds. Mrs. Arthur selected a pink faced tiered black dress and a black hat trimmed in pink velvet leaves. She also has a corsage of pink roses.

The bride is a graduate of Allegheny High School and attended Davis and Elkins College, Elkins, W. Va. The bridegroom is a graduate of Fort Hill High School and is a junior in the School of Engineering at Johns Hopkins University.

The wedding reception will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Carolan, The Dingle, uncle and aunt of the bride, following the ceremony. The refreshment table will be decorated in bowls of white carnations and snapdragons, while smilax, interspersed with carnations and snapdragons, encircle the punch bowl and tiered wedding cake, adorned with a miniature bride and bridegroom, beneath a wedding bell. Mrs. William J. Withers, Baltimore, will serve the cake, and Miss Beverly Reynolds, the punch.

For traveling the bride will wear a brown wool princess lines dress, rimmed with pink angora around the collar, a pink hat, brown leather slippers, fur coat and corsage of roses. The couple will reside at Buckingham Arms, Charles Street, Baltimore.

Nurses Will Hear Two Speakers

Two speakers will address the meeting of the Alumnae Association of Sacred Heart Hospital, to be held Wednesday at 7:30, in the Bellevue Street nurses home. Mrs. Elizabeth Lovett will preside.

Miss Jane Camper, supervisor of special education, will discuss the "Whole Field of Special Education of All Types of Exceptional Children" at 8 o'clock.

Obtaining her formal education in Michigan, Miss Camper received her BS at Michigan University; and her master's degree at Wayne University, Detroit. She taught seven years, two of which were in Wayne County Training School for Mental Defectives. She came to Cumberland in April 1955 as supervisor of special education. John E. Geare will speak at 8:15. A member of the board of the Allegheny-Garrett County Heart Association, he will discuss the work of the association.

Organization Betty Jane Twigg Is Bride Of A-2c R. V. Grabenstein

A $25 bond was presented to H. W. Bloss, and pearl earrings to Mrs. George Wenrich at the dinner given by the Baltimore and Ohio Veterans and Ladies Auxiliary, honoring them on their retirement from office.

Following the invocation by Carl Koerner, Victor Hebb extended the welcome and presented William A. Gunter, toastmaster. The value of the veterans organization and friendship were stressed by Roy V. Collins, Staten Island, grand president. T. J. Klauenberg, division superintendent, Roy Eves, superintendent of the bolt and forge, and Mrs. Paul Bender, Newark, Ohio, grand president of the auxiliary. Mr. Collins also complimented the honor guests and said this would be his last official visit to Cumberland, as he is retiring in May. He thanked the group for its cooperation and help. Each honor guest responded briefly.

Entertainment included accordion and vocal selections by Billie Snyder, vocal numbers by Joan Flora and Lillian Dentinger with Mrs. Mary Law at the piano; and a quartet composed of Miss Snyder, Barbara Ann Gulick, Norma Appol and Miss Dentinger.

Other out-of-town guests were John Lavelle, Mrs. Arnold Rech and Mrs. N. A. Stinger, Pittsburgh. Vases of assorted flowers decorated the tables, with covers laid for 125.

Evangelistic Rally To Be Held Tuesday

Rev. Louis P. Chastain, pastor of Trinity Methodist Church, will be the speaker at the Evangelistic rally of the Cumberland Sub-District Young Adults, Tuesday.

Special music will be presented by the First Methodist Choir, under direction of Mrs. Marjorie Chambers. The rally is to be held at 7:30 p. m. in First Methodist Church, Bedford Street, with Mrs. Edward Nield chairman.

After the service Vincent Thompson will be in charge of the recreation.

Betty Jane Twigg Is Bride Of A-2c R. V. Grabenstein

Miss Betty Jane Twigg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Twigg, Spring Gap, became the bride of A-2c Ronald Vincent Grabenstein, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alphonsus J. Grabenstein, Oldtown Road, January 7.

The wedding ceremony was solemnized at 9 a. m. in St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church, with Rev. Lawrence P. Landrigan officiating. Mrs. Ann Moore Newman played the traditional wedding marches, "Ave Maria," and "Oh Lord I Am Not Worthy."

Miss Anna Grabenstein was her sister's maid of honor and only attendant; while Joseph T. Grabenstein served as his brother's best man.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Virgil R. Twigg, Washington, was attired in a ballerina-length gown of lace and nylon net over satin. It is fashioned with a full skirt, fitted bodice, and nylon net over satin bolero. Her fingertip-length veil was held by a lace headpiece. Completing her costume, she carried a white prayer book, topped with a white orchid and with a shower of white satin ribbons.

Her attendant wore a blue halter, Bedford Street, with Mrs. Edward Nield chairman.

After the service Vincent Thompson will be in charge of the recreation.

BIRTH OF AN ANGEL

They call her an angel of mercy. And they mean it! Just ask the ones who have depended on her in a time of fear and pain.

How did she become an angel of mercy? Was she born to be a nurse . . . or did she just happen to decide that would be a good profession?

She decided. But she didn't just happen to decide! It grew within her—this yearning to help others.

It began one day in church school. Was it the lesson of the Good Samaritan—or one of the others? The idea thrived on many an inspiring sermon. Then one day it became a conviction . . . something to pray about . . . to plan for.

Today she is a wonderful nurse. Tomorrow she'll be a loving wife . . . an understanding mother. You see, she's not unusual, this girl. She is simply a girl whose Church helped her find God's challenge in her life.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Saudi Arabia's Role In The Middle East

President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden in their general discussion of policy for the Middle East undoubtedly spent much time on the complicated role Saudi Arabia is playing in that area.

A dispatch from London to The New York Times, dated January 26, said explicitly that U. S. government officials in Washington had been shown a "voluminous British dossier" on Saudi Arabian moves against Western interests. Some of the documents were understood to have come from Saudi Arabian police recently expelled from the Buraimi oasis in Southeast Arabia by British-officered troops of the Sultan of Muscat and the ruler of Abu Dhabi. Each of these Arab leaders, allies of Britain, has asked for help against Saudi Arabian "encroachment" on their lands.

The embassy of Saudi Arabia in Washington on January 28 issued a denial of the London dispatch and other stories on that country that had appeared in the newspaper on the same day. It blamed trouble in the Middle East on "Britain's imperialistic policy in the area."

Sir Anthony on October 26 had announced that British-officered Arab forces had expelled Saudi Arabian forces from the Buraimi Oasis. This is on the disputed border between Saudi Arabia and the British-supported sultanates of Abu Dhabi and Muscat. Eden said efforts to negotiate a settlement of the dispute had broken down. Military action was needed to honor obligations to "our friends."

A Saudi Arabian official on January 26 said that unless the Eisenhower-Eden talks resulted in British withdrawal from the oasis and a new proposal for arbitration, his country would appeal to the United Nations Security Council. The British have charged Saudi Arabia with supporting the independence movement of the Imam of Oman, a religious leader subject to the Sultan of Muscat. An official spokesman for Saudi Arabia countered with the charge that Britain had "invaded the independent state of Oman."

In December the Soviet press and Moscow radio were linking "aggression against Oman" with the Buraimi affair. Commented the London Economist: "Although their coffers are already bursting with oil revenues, the Saudis seem unable to bear the possibility of royalties from wells so near at hand going to others, and their obvious remedy is to push their frontiers forward, occupying an oasis here, devising and sponsoring an 'independent state' there."

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky
George Meany

Lying here, one conjures up many memories of other days and among the faces that one does not want to forget is that of Sam Gompers who founded the American Federation of Labor and was for many years the leading labor leader of the country. His principal competitor was Eugene V. Debs who was Socialist and therein lay the difference: Gompers was opposed to socialism. He was a capitalist labor leader, one who believed that labor unions could voluntarily thrive within the capitalist system in the United States and that under capitalism, the lot of the American worker would improve beyond the most Utopian dreams of the Socialists. Gompers' dream for the American worker has more than come true, without revolution, without Marxism.

Gompers was a cigar-maker and an immigrant from England, as I recall it, and he had known the First International and Second International Socialists and he thought they were woozy-minded. He did not care for them at all. As a matter of fact, until the large immigrations from Eastern Europe in the first decade of this century, there was little socialism in the American Federation of Labor. Debs' influence was outside the AFL in what was first called the Social Democratic party and then came to be called the Socialist party. Back in those days, there was a Marxist called Daniel De Leon, who taught at Columbia University and who ran a splinter party called the Socialist Labor party which I think still exists. The Communist party is of a later period.

Gompers was a singularly nationalistic American who put loyalty to country above everything else. In his day, the American Federation of Labor could always be counted on to take a nationalist rather than an internationalist position on all questions. Gompers died before the Communists became a menace to American life but it is possible to say from a study of his career that he would have been among the strongest opponents to this movement and that he would have taken the most active steps to prevent their infiltration into American labor. It is not surprising that one of the keenest opponents of Communists in labor should be Matthew Woll, who had been closely associated with Gompers.

The Communists infiltrated the American labor movement through the CIO more successfully than through the AFL. Now that the two organizations are amalgamated, the Communists encounter in the present president of the combined organization a Gompers-like American character who has no use for Communists or for Socialists and whose speeches on the subject have already given comfort to Americans that the kind of patriotic leadership that should have come out of government or industry or our universities is coming out of the American Federation of Labor in the person of George Meany. His language is direct and strong and uncompromising.

This, of course, means that George Meany will have a fight on his hands, particularly from those elements in the CIO unions who are either conditioned by revisionist socialism as the Reuthers are or are part of the international Communist apparatus which has, since the 1920s, been seeking to capture the American labor movement. They nearly succeeded in the middle 1930s through the political plays of Sidney Hillman, the use of the American Labor party by Fiorello La Guardia and Vito Marcantonio and the control of the National Labor Relations Board by a Communist apparatus.

The Communists were brilliant in their operations and had behind them the full support of the administration but they failed. The fact that they failed is an important historic fact not only in the American labor movement but in any understanding of the American people. And the fact further is that the reason that George Meany is president of the American Federation of Labor on its amalgamation with the CIO is that American labor is American; that its membership consists of the same kind of Americans as the American Legion or any American national organization, and that under the leadership of George Meany, it is going to remain that kind of an organization.

Middle Man

No Reason Ike Should Hurry In Making Decision

WASHINGTON — Nobody — not even President Eisenhower — knows positively as yet whether he will be a candidate for a second term. Mr. Eisenhower wants more time in which to appraise the whole situation, and his doctors feel he should have that opportunity.

This, in a nutshell, is the authoritative news of the moment about the plans of the President.

None of the callers or advisers inside the government has any clue to the future, because the President himself hasn't any.

The reason that Mr. Eisenhower isn't closing the door to a second term is that he honestly doesn't know whether he will be physically able to serve, and he wants to take all the time needed to make that decision.

First Inkling January 25

The first inkling of this came at the January 25 press conference, when Mr. Eisenhower said:

"We are not talking now about a man who has been ill and who has had, let's say, a full year to decide what he can do in the next four years. I have been—I think yesterday it was four months since I had this illness that started all this type of questioning."

Now comes Maj. Gen. Howard McC. Snyder, the President's own physician, to say that the President should have "all the time" he needs to decide about a second term and adds:

"No man who is just four and one-half months past a heart attack is in a position yet to determine his own physical fitness."

This throws an interesting light on the way Mr. Eisenhower is approaching a decision and also explains why he has not been able to give anybody an intimation of what he will finally do.

The President didn't start back on a full schedule till he returned to Washington around the first of the year. That's a period of only a few weeks. During that interval he has been testing himself. If he finds that he can stand the strain of the job without feeling any ill effects, he will guess that he is able to do so indefinitely. But, if he feels the strain, he will say so frankly and not endeavor to run again.

No Reason For Haste

In the January 25 press conference, Mr. Eisenhower said he hopes he "will not dillydally too long about it"—that is, in making a decision. But, if his doctors tell him to take longer, he will find it necessary to comply. Meanwhile, the President isn't interfering with the candidacy of anybody else who wants to go into the primaries to seek the nomination or to carry on a campaign otherwise.

So there's no logical reason why Mr. Eisenhower shouldn't take a look at his physical condition as late as April or May and then make up his mind whether he thinks he could go through with a second term if elected. Harold Stassen, one of the President's advisers, was quoted recently as saying that the President could wait almost till convention time and that the Republican party would wait till then if there was a chance of the President saying "yes."

The question naturally arises as to whether a "part-time president," as one Democratic senator called it, would be a handicap to the country. The answer is that, if Mr. Eisenhower feels he will be a "part-time president," he will not run. He has emphasized that he will be thinking not of himself but of the duty he owes to the presidency.

It might also be asked whether the President's health will be a factor in the campaign if he accepts renomination. Looking ahead to election day in November next, more than a year will have elapsed since the heart attack in September 1955, and the American people will have had ample opportunity to decide whether in the interval Mr. Eisenhower has performed the full duties of his office in a satisfactory manner.

Sniping of a personal nature is resented by the American voter.

The professor also devised a pulse clock. Both inventions were far ahead of the times.

The small compact modern thermometer was invented in 1868 by Sir Thomas Allbutt, regius professor of physics at Cambridge. As with other medical instruments, it represents the cumulative ingenuity of hundreds of years of scientific endeavor.

A singing teacher, who celebrated his 101st birthday by playing a Spanish song on a guitar, invented the laryngoscope. He was Manuel Garcia whose pupils included Johanna Wagner, Emanuel Stockhausen, and Jenny Lind. His invention stemmed from intellectual curiosity; he wanted to see the inside of the voice box in action.

Garcia needed a mirror that would enable him to look around the corner. A Parisian surgical instrument maker fashioned one somewhat similar to a dentist's mirror. Garcia placed it against his own uvula, tilting it so that the rays were reflected down the throat into the windpipe. With a second mirror, he flashed sunlight into the first and to his amazement, was able to see the vocal cords.

The maestro experimented for months and recorded and published his observations on different positions and vibrations of the cords as each note of the scale was made. Many improvements have been made on Garcia's device but there is no question that he deserves credit for the discovery of the principles involved in laryngoscopy.

The stethoscope was invented by Rene Theophile Laennec more than a century ago. The original model was a paper rolled into a cylinder; one end was placed to the patient's chest and the other, to the physician's ear. The improved version consisted of a wooden cylinder 1½ inches in diameter and a foot long.

It was perforated longitudinally by a bore ¼ inch wide and the end was funnel-shaped. An American, George Cammann, was the first to employ a stethoscope with the ends fitted into the ears. It was far superior to the old cylinder and is essentially the same as the type in use today.

Already the Democratic senator who charged a few days ago that the Republicans would try to keep Eisenhower alive by the use of "drugs" wishes he hadn't said it. For that kind of thing can boom-erang.

FDR's Paralysis No Issue

The Republicans were more considerate in the case of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt who, due to an attack of infantile paralysis, couldn't walk without being supported. All through his career in public office, both as governor of New York and as president, he didn't have the use of his legs. No issue was made of it by the Republicans, for they knew the people were interested only in what President Roosevelt did or said, and not in how much he rested each day or in how many visits he had to make to the Warm Springs, Ga., baths. The newspapers—even his bitterest opponents—never printed any pictures portraying his physical handicap to the people.

As for lightening the burdens of the presidency, this has been exaggerated. Executive power is already delegated by Congress to cabinet officers. Another cabinet post or two can be created to coordinate the so-called independent agencies and to do other routine tasks that need to be done. No constitutional amendment is necessary.

But it will be said that maybe Mr. Eisenhower might have a second attack which could be fatal. That's why the founding fathers in their wisdom provided a constitutional system whereby two men—a president and a vice president—are elected. This hazard is one that faces any president, irrespective of his age or health at the time of his election.

Many improvements have been made on Garcia's device but there is no question that he deserves credit for the discovery of the principles involved in laryngoscopy.

The stethoscope was invented by Rene Theophile Laennec more than a century ago. The original model was a paper rolled into a cylinder; one end was placed to the patient's chest and the other, to the physician's ear. The improved version consisted of a wooden cylinder 1½ inches in diameter and a foot long.

It was perforated longitudinally by a bore ¼ inch wide and the end was funnel-shaped. An American, George Cammann, was the first to employ a stethoscope with the ends fitted into the ears. It was far superior to the old cylinder and is essentially the same as the type in use today.

Federal Reserve Men Ease Credit Controls To Spur Economic Boom

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — While President Eisenhower was sending his "the boom will continue message" to Congress, a little group of men who guide the prosperity of the nation were sitting in a white marble building a few blocks away worrying about the same boom.

The little group of men were the Federal Reserve Board and they were deciding to ease tight credit controls in order to spur a little more inflation into the economic picture and keep the boom from deflating.

In other words, while the President was saying one thing, the Federal Reserve Board was acting as if it was afraid of just the opposite.

This highlights the warning given privately to the President by economic adviser Dr. Arthur Burns that there would be a slump in auto sales this year and a letdown in building construction.

In general also, it's believed by administration economic advisers and by big corporation executives that the seven-year bull market has seen its best days.

Brownell Ducks

Senators are still wondering when Attorney General Brownell will condescend to come up to Capitol Hill to testify before one of their committees. So far he has ducked out on seven different invitations to testify.

The latest arose during a closed-door session of the Senate Judiciary Committee when Chairman Kilgore (D., W.Va.) read a letter from Deputy Attorney General William Rogers offering to come himself in place of Brownell regarding the proposal to hire separate counsel to represent the government in prosecuting those guilty of conflicts of interest in the Dixon-Yates case.

Chairman Kilgore was about to accept Rogers' offer when Senator Hennings of Missouri spoke up. "I think, Mr. Chairman," he said, "that it might be well to have the testimony of the attorney general himself. We have wanted his views on constitutional rights, extra judges, juvenile delinquency, anti-monopoly, and several other matters, but so far we have been unable to persuade him to testify."

"Nevertheless I think we should invite him once again to testify on Dixon-Yates."

Kilgore agreed.

"However," suggested Hennings, "I will make you a small wager that we will find the attorney general is either in Texas or Guam when we invite him to testify."

A few days later Senator Kilgore saw Senator Hennings on the Senate floor.

"You win your bet," he said, "we have word from Brownell that he's going to be in Puerto Rico."

Five-Percentism Doesn't Pay

There's more than the grand scandal that resulted in the recent indictment of Warren Stephenson, chairman of the Eisenhower Inaugural Ball Committee. By a peculiar coincidence, the congressman who investigated Stephenson used the investigation to benefit a constituent.

Here's the inside story:

Shortly after Ike's inaugural ball, Warren Stephenson, the man who staged it, took advantage of his inside position to become a five-percenter. Among the firms hiring him was Century Engineering Company, which had developed a new rocket launcher for the Navy. As the developer of the rocket launcher, the company naturally was in line to get the contract for manufacturing it.

Taking no chances, Century Engineering assigned Stephenson to use his influence with the Eisenhower administration to sew up the contract. Meanwhile, a rival firm, the Spray-Con Company, telegraphed a competitive bid into the Navy. Whether or not Stephenson's influence peddling had anything to do with it, the Navy decided to award the contract to Century Engineering, which deserved the contract.

Congressman Wins

Before this was officially announced, however, Spray-Con got wind of the award and started pulling wires of its own. At this point, Congressman Bill Hess, Cincinnati Republican, stepped in. He asked the Navy to hold up the contracts and ordered a hearing before his House Armed Services subcommittee. This hearing resulted in the indictment of Stephenson for alleged perjury in 1953. The judge threw the case out on the grounds that evidence obtained from a recorded telephone conversation was inadmissible. But, last month, Stephenson was reindicted.

Meanwhile, the courts and the press have paid no attention to what happened to the disputed Navy contract. The Century Engineering Company, which developed the rocket launcher in the first place but made the mistake of hiring influence-peddler Stephenson, lost out completely.

At Congressman Hess's request, the Navy's aeronautics chief, Adm. T. S. Combs, held up Century's contract and invited new bids. So in the end the rival company, Spray-Con, won the contract.

Then an interesting thing happened: Spray-Con subcontracted the entire job to one of Congressman Hess's constituents, the Cincinnati Industrial Finishing Company. In other words, an important constituent of the congressman who ordered the congressional investigation landed the contract.

The Navy asked the FBI to investigate the original leak to Spray-Con about Century's getting the contract. As a result, the G-men also learned about the interesting tie-up between Spray-Con, Congressman Hess and the Cincinnati Industrial Finishing Company.

However, Attorney General Brownell did not go into this tie-up. He confined the case before the grand jury only to Stephenson's alleged perjury.

Having heard a good deal about "The Left Hand of God," the writer was curious to know whether it was some new-fangled theological doctrine, an exotic perfume, a breakfast food, a movie, or a Gershwin rhapsody.

First time I was in town I went to a department store to find out. "Information" said she hadn't heard or seen anything about God recently. But try "Cosmetics."

The cosmetics smelled all the bottles and said they didn't have it, but "Sin" was preferred by most folks.

Then I inquired of the head of the book department one of the preacher's mainstays away, and she said she always slept in on Sunday mornings. That Georgia peach over in the other aisle may know.

The G. P. triggered back, "Yes, I saw it last night and it's a good picture. We don't have the book in stock but we can get it for you."

Valley High School's Black Knights and Allegany High School's Campers remained deadlocked for first place in the W.M.I. League at 5-1 by posting victories in games played last night at Fort Hill and Campobello.

Coach John Meyers' Valley quint knocked off the Sentinels to the tune of 61-56 while Allegany was forced to hustle in the second half to pull a 77-61 decision out of the fire in a battle with Mt. Savage High School's Indians.

In a game that went three overtime periods, Bruce High's Bulldogs edged Beall High at Frostburg by the score of 61-59 on two foul goals by Tommy Riggins.

The score was knotted nine times in the game at Fort Hill—2, 10, 14, 16, 40, 46, 50 and 52.

Robertson Stands Out

Robert "Cokie" Robertson was the workhorse for the Knights, hitting for a total of 33 points on 11 field goals and 11-13 at the foul stripe. He broke the backs of the Hilltoppers in the second period as he pumped in nine consecutive points to push a Fort Hill lead down the drain.

It was also Robertson who put Valley ahead to stay in the last period. With just two minutes remaining to play and the count knotted at 52-52, he pushed in a jump shot to give the Knights the lead which they never relinquished.

In addition to Robert's 33 points, Ronald "Butch" Young and Johnny Johnson had 10 points each. Glen McGreggor, Harold Malone and Ron Detweiler paced the Sentinels with 16, 12 and 10 markers. McGreggor, Detweiler and Clarence "Pooch" Lewis also fouled out in the last period.

Deremer Sparks Attack

Jim Deremer, who entered the game in the third period as a replacement for Ronnie Bruce, netted 18 points on nine field goals to lead Coach Gene Shaw's Campers to victory over Mt. Savage on the Sedgwick street court.

Mt. Savage excelled at the foul line and took a 34-29 lead in the first half but Allegany came back with a bang in the second half to sew it up. The Indians, outscored 31 to 18 from the field, turned in a foul shooting average of 75.8 by sinking 25 of 33 throws while the Campers didn't do bad themselves in meshing 15 of 22 for 68.2.

Rod Breedlove and Ken Johnson trailed Deremer in the scoring column with 16 points each. George Bishields was Mt. Savage's leader with six field goals, 9 out of 10 at the foul line and 21 markers. Bill Clauson of Mt. Savage and Mike Leach of Allegany fouled out. Allegany's Jayvees defeated Mt. Savage in the opener of the twin bill, 58-50.

Riggins Wins Thriller

At Frostburg, Bruce and Beall battled to a 53-53 draw in the overtime game. They were still tied at 59-59 when the first three minute extra period ended. The second overtime session was billed as "sudden death" but it also went three minutes with the count unchanged at 59-59. In the third overtime, a "sudden death" affair Riggins meshed two foul goals to settle the issue in Bruce's favor.

Gene Dawson dumped in 13 shots from the field and headed the game's scorers with 29 points. Jim Thompson was Beall's top scorer with eight goals and 20 tallies.

Bob Stevenson of Beall and Donnie Wilkinson of Bruce made their exit on personal fouls.

Bruce High's Jayvees beat Beall in the preliminary game, 46-31.

Aggies Lose, 53-43

Grace Methodist of the Cumberland Sunday School League handed Flintstone High School's varsity quint its ninth straight defeat last night at Flintstone. The score was 53-43.

Henry scored 13 goals and 13 points for the winners. Kent Lough paced the Aggies with 22 tallies. St. John's of the Sunday School League beat Flintstone Junior High in the prelim, 19-17. Lineups:

Lions Knock Moorefield From Second

Sweep P.V.C. Series; Tie Keyser Cagers For Runner-Up Spot

MOOREFIELD, Feb. 3 — Piedmont High School jolted Moorefield's Yellow Jackets out of the runner-up spot in the Potomac Valley Conference by winning a 46-43 thriller here tonight before a packed house.

The outcome of tonight's game tied Piedmont with Keyser for second place in the league, each team owning 3-2 records. Moorefield dropped into fourth position with 9-3. Circleville leads the race with five wins and one loss.

The victory enabled Coach William "Huck" Miers' Lions to sweep the season series. The score of the first game at Piedmont was 57-55.

Piedmont put the ball in a "deep freeze" after taking a 46-43 lead with 1:40 left to play. The score was deadlocked eight times at 2, 4, 6, 8, 30, 31, 33 and 35 and the lead changed hand on ten occasions.

Clay Smith and Dick Niland were Piedmont's "big gun" with 15 and 14 points while Billy Bauserman and Jim Vetter sparked the Jackets with 16 and 14.

Moorefield played without the services of High and Martin who were under suspension.

Piedmont Junior High topped Moorefield in the preliminary game, 47-20. Lineups:

Service Available On Annual Fee Plan

MT. SAVAGE — The Mt. Savage Fire Company met with the citizens of Mt. Savage recently to decide what to do about continuing the service of the ambulance to the community. The meeting was conducted by Albert Swauger, head of the ambulance committee.

It was pointed out by Swauger that it cost the fire company a great deal of money to maintain the service of the ambulance. Expenses for maintaining the ambulance over the past year for gas, oil, repairs, and tires alone were over $1,000, he said.

Firemen believe an ambulance is needed in the town but it is up to the citizens to help maintain this service, he said. Because so many people in the past have benefited from the use of the ambulance and many may need it in the future the fire company hopes everyone will be willing to contribute and become members when a membership drive is started.

Membership will be for one year and will cost $2 for a family of two and under membership for a family of three or more will be $3. For non-members it will cost $8 to use the ambulance. Membership cards will entitle holders to use the ambulance to hospitals in Cumberland and Frostburg and for residents of Wellersburg to go to the hospital in Meyersdale.

However, if it is necessary to use the ambulance to go to Baltimore, Washington, etc., it will cost members 20 cents a mile from Cumberland and non-members 20 cents a mile from the time they are picked up.

The membership drive will start February 15 and continue until March 15, or until everyone has been contacted. Membership tickets will also be available at the fire hall. A list will be posted in the fire hall of all people who become members.

On Monday, February 13, there will be a joint meeting of the firemen and the ladies auxiliary of the fire company. At this meeting tickets will be distributed and districts assigned to those who will work on this drive.

Machinery Arrives For New Plant At Mt. Savage

MT. SAVAGE — Several tractor-trailer loads of machinery have been unloaded at the new Mt. Savage plant of the Ribbon Copies Corporation of America.

The machinery was brought here from New York. The new plant is located in the old C&P Railroad Company shops, which were sold to the enterprise by the Western Maryland Railway. The latter line took over the C&P facilities quite a few years ago.

It was pointed out that the new plant is being prepared for operation at a date to be announced later. The railway shop structure is being remodeled for the new manufacturing company.

Daniel Price of Washington is the president of the firm.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Parochial School Teachers To Meet

Elementary faculties and principals of Cumberland area parochial schools will hold a teachers' institute today at 2 p. m. in St. Peter and Paul Parish Hall, according to Sister Hilda, principal of St. Peter and Paul School.

Rev. Dr. Leo McCormick, Baltimore, superintendent of the Catholic School Board of the Archdiocese of Baltimore, will discuss the agenda for the second semester. Following the meeting, Rev. Jude Senier OFM, Cap., guardian of St. Peter and Paul Monastery, will entertain the visitors with music through the binaural stereo system installed in the parish hall.

Woman's Will Filed

The will of Mrs. Laura V. Parker, 80, of 14 Virginia Avenue, who died January 16, was admitted to probate in Orphans Court yesterday. Earl E. Manges, local attorney, was named executor of the document.

Contract Bridge

IF THE hand below were quietly put in a duplicate board and given to a large field without any announcement, it is safe to say that no more than one East, as a maximum, would produce the only defense that could beat the inevitable four-spade contract.

North dealer. Both sides vulnerable.

♠ A 9 8	♥ A Q 8 5
♦ K 7	♣ A Q 6
♣ K J 10 9 2	♦ K 10 4 3 2
♠ 6 5	♥ 10
♦ J 9 6 2	♣ 8 7
♠ J 9 3 2	♥ 8 6 5

The bidding:
North East South West
1 ♠ 1 ♥ 4 ♠ Pass
Pass Pass

Actually, the hand occurred at rubber bridge. West opened the dealer of hearts, dummy ducked, and the queen won. Then, without giving a great deal of thought to the situation, East laid down the heart ace—and right then and there he conceded the contract. Declarer ruffed, cashed the king and queen of spades and then led a diamond toward dummy. The nine lost to East's queen, but now it did not matter what East returned. South, after knocking out the diamond ace, could claim the balance, since there were three established diamonds in dummy on which to discard losing clubs.

The plain fact is that East made a bad mistake at Trick 2. His partner's lead was almost certainly from four hearts, hence declarer was marked with a singleton. East could reasonably count on two diamond tricks, and so, in addition to the only heart trick available, he would need a club trick before dummy's diamonds were established for discards. The only real hope of defeating the contract, then, was to find West with the jack of clubs. Obviously, had East acted on this analysis and returned a club at the second trick, then, on winning the diamond queen, led another club, he would have established the setting trick for himself before declarer could use the diamond suit.

Delegates To Probe Transit Co. Strike

Passage Of Arbitration Bill Unlikely

By GEORGE BOWEN

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 3 (AP)—A complete investigation of the strikebound Baltimore Transit Co. by the House of Delegates appeared imminent today while Gov. McKeldin's proposal which could lead to State seizure ran into stiff opposition.

The governor's bill for compulsory arbitration, with State operation of the buses and trolleys in the meantime, appeared to have dim chances of passage.

After both management and labor representatives assailed it as unconstitutional, strikebreaking and union busting, a motion for an unfavorable report was made at a meeting of the Senate Judiciary Committee. But it was decided to hold off any vote until Tuesday.

Before that on Monday night the House will be asked to approve its first grand inquest in this century. The inquest conducted by the entire House of 123 members will have authority to subpoena and hear testimony under oath.

Wants Deeper Probe

Del. Mandel (D-Balto 5th), city delegation chairman, said he wanted the investigation to go beyond the current strike which started Monday into ownership of the Baltimore Transit Co. It is controlled by National City Lines, with headquarters in Chicago.

"We feel this goes further than any mere labor-management dispute," he said.

He referred to reports that the company would like a situation created that would cause purchase by the city.

If the House approves of the grand inquest, it would begin Tuesday night. Mandel said he proposed to hold it even if the strike is settled by then.

Joseph Allen, former people's counsel to the Public Service Commission and now head of the Tax Commission, was the only so-called proponent of the bill. He helped draft it at McKeldin's request.

The authors were criticized for its contents and McKeldin for his intentions.

Bernard Cushman, counsel for the striking drivers union, said the bill was drawn by "lawyers who know nothing about collective bargaining" and he called it "asinine."

Claims Political Motive

Harry Cohen, president of the Maryland-District of Columbia Federation of Labor, declared "only after the strike started did Gov. McKeldin ask the Legislature to give him ammunition to hit the union over the head so he could say 'I, your governor, settled this strike.'"

He asked why McKeldin hadn't made the same proposal in 1952 when a BTC strike lasted three weeks. "Because he was running for re-election," said Cohen answering his own question.

Allen claimed the governor had threatened to take similar action four years ago and that "forced settlement within 24 hours."

Duke Avnet, lawyer for labor unions, suggested that use by the State labor commissioner of his present powers "could bring this dispute to an end quickly."

Resumption Sought

Allen replied "the primary objective is to see that service is resumed" and an investigation by the Labor Commission would not accomplish that.

McKeldin proposed that he be given authority to seize any strikebound public utility and send the dispute to arbitration. The company has rejected a union offer to arbitrate the issues.

Joseph Sherbow, the company's chief negotiator, opposed the plan as unconstitutional and said it was a denial of the right to bargain collectively.

Deputy Atty. Gen. Norman P. Ramsey, another drafter of the bill, conceded there was a question of conflict with federal statutes.

In reply to concern over the Baltimore public being left without public transportation, Cushman said the inconvenience is not sufficient justification for enactment of what he called a radical departure in State policy.

The transit bill was the big issue before weekend adjournment of the Legislature.

Secret Sessions

In the Senate, a proposed rules change by Sen. Goodman (D-Balto 5th) that would have prohibited executive sessions of the body was modified somewhat.

Under the modified proposal neither the Senate nor its committees could take final action on any bill, resolution or nomination while in closed session. The matter will come on Monday.

The senate also moved to further clarify the postponing of scheduled increases of automobile license tag fees.

Sens. Malkus (D-Dorchester) and Nock (D-Wicomico) asked speedy action on a bill that would include buses and trucks in the postponement. Under wording of the delay granted earlier, Nock said, there was doubt as to whether these vehicles had been included.

Former Area Man Nabbed On Forgery Count

Samuel H. Hott, 33, Under $1,000 Bond

A Winchester, Va., man, who formerly lived at Limestone near Keyser, has been released under $1,000 bond for action of the grand jury of the April term of Mineral County Circuit Court on a charge of forgery.

Authorities said Samuel Henry Hott, 33, has confessed to forging a Veterans Administration insurance check for $88, which was issued to his brother-in-law, the late Charles W. Hevner.

Hott was arrested this week by Winchester authorities, waived extradition and was picked up in Virginia by Cpl. Evan Moody of the West Virginia State Police at Keyser, and Deputy Sheriff Marlin Biggs.

He was taken before Justice of the Peace Madalyn Bazzle and was released under $1,000 bond after waiving a preliminary hearing.

The check was issued to the late Mr. Hevner in April 1953. Authorities said both Hott and his brother-in-law had the same Post Office box in Keyser.

After forging the check, Hott reportedly cashed it at a Keyser business establishment.

Retired Kelly Workers To Be Honored Tonight

Members of the Engineering Division of Local 26, Rubber Workers Union (CIO), will honor their retired members at a dinner meeting today at 6:30 p. m. in Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Guests of honor will be Thomas Nelson, Mt. Savage; Oscar Wolfe, Ellerslie, and Sterling W. Ryan, 114 Paca Street, who retired from service with the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company within the last 12 months.

Up to two dozen retired members of the department will also be honored at the third annual Engineering Division retirement banquet.

Toastmaster will be George B. McLaughlin and talks will be given by Edmund S. Burke, president of the tire company, and James Stein, president of Local 26.

Brief remarks will also be made by F. T. Bell, C. L. Herath, Douglas Smith and Ray Adams.

Up to 200 guests are expected to attend the annual dinner.

Plans are being completed by a committee headed by Leo F. Barkman, Eugene B. Mayhew, secretary, and Charles L. Jankey, treasurer.

Gifts will be presented to the newly retired members of the division.

Local 26, URWA, has postponed a membership meeting scheduled tonight until February 11 at 7:30 p. m.

Fire Association To Meet Sunday

The Allegany-Garrett Counties Volunteer Firemen's Association will meet at 2 p. m. Sunday at the Bowling Green Fire Hall.

A location for the association's annual smoker to be held April 21 will be selected, according to Delbert Valentine of North Branch, president.

Salk Vaccine Supply About Exhausted

BALTIMORE, Feb. 3 (AP)—Maryland has virtually exhausted its supply of Salk anti-polio vaccine, State health officials said today.

Dr. Edward Daven, deputy director of the State Department of Health, and Dr. Huntington Williams, director of the Baltimore City Health Department, said in a joint statement that there is little vaccine available for either private or public use.

Their statement said:

"There is apparently some public misunderstanding about whether or not there is at present in Baltimore and the Maryland counties available poliomyelitis vaccine for families who wish it for eligible children under 16 years and over one year.

"The truth is that there is practically no vaccine to be had and none has been received in the State for the last six weeks except one small allocation which has already been distributed for use.

"There is still a national shortage of this vaccine. However, the problem in Maryland and Baltimore City was one of shifting the vaccine to areas where demand was running ahead of supply. Under this practice the supply was holding up.

"Now a changing picture presents evidences of an increasing interest in the program by the public resulting in an increased demand for vaccine that cannot be met by redistribution. This means that some persons eligible for vaccine are now having to wait for their shots.

"It is hoped that the picture will become brighter as time goes on and that sufficient vaccine will become available to those eligible who wish it."

Police, Firemen Dance Planned On April 13

The annual dance sponsored by the Police and Firemen's Welfare Association will be held Friday, April 13 at Clarysville Inn.

During a recent meeting of the Board of Trustees of the organization, it was decided the music for the dance will be provided by Dick Dysert, of Johnstown, Pa.

In charge of the combined ticket and program committee are Vincent H. Wegman, Robert C. Long and John N. Morrissey Jr.

Solicitations for the dance program will begin on Monday.

Young Adults Class Plans Activities

The Friendly Young Adults Sunday Church School Class of St. Luke's Lutheran Church held a dinner-meeting at the church Thursday night to encourage new membership in the class.

Class activities for 1956, including missionary work and social events, were announced by Robert L. Smith, president. Other officers of the class, presiding at their first meeting since the recent election, were Leslie Brinkman, vice president; Mrs. Lois Poorman, secretary; and Mrs. June Boden, treasurer.

A film, "Good for Evil," was shown after the dinner, which was served by ladies of the class.

Guests included Dr. and Mrs. Norman Barger, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Yetko, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith, Mr. and Mrs. George Smith, William Hutter, James Miller, Mrs. William Shinoltz and Mrs. Martha Williams.

Big Time For Tots

Billy Beeghly and Brenda Sue Bonebrake are entertained by Herbert Lear in the guise of a balloon-venting clown at the Fun Night at West Side School last night. The event, sponsored by West Side PTA, included a square dance in addition to the usual games and other attractions.

Road Leading To Mt. Savage School Opened

Now that the new road to the Mt. Savage School is about 85 per cent complete it has been opened to the public but no agency will assume responsibility for the removal of snow and cinderling of hazardous spots on the 1.15 miles of paved surface.

Originally, when the S. T. Brotemarkle Construction Company stopped work on the project for the winter just before Christmas, it was barricaded.

Later, G. Bates Chaires, district engineer of the State Roads Commission, concluding that in clear weather this new road is safer than the old road to the school, directed the contractor to remove the barricade.

The $261,000 road is being financed jointly by the Federal Bureau of Public Roads and the Allegany County Board of Commissioners. Because the Bureau of Public Roads will deal only with the State Roads Commission in Maryland, the SRC did the engineering work for the job and has been inspecting it.

However, the SRC cannot assume responsibility for snow removal and cinderling on the road as its duties are restricted to state roads. Once completed, the road will be the responsibility of the county commissioners to maintain. J. Walker Chapman, county roads supervisor, explained last night that Commissioners William H. Lemmert and James Orr have instructed him not to remove snow or to cinder the new Mt. Savage School Road until the commissioners actually accept it following its completion.

Similarly, school bus drivers, acting on instructions given Arthur G. Ramey, supervisor of transportation, by Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster, have been instructed to continue using the old road as long as the county commissioners maintain that road and not the new one. For several days after the new road was opened school buses did travel this route.

It is reported that the surfacing is complete. The shoulders are considered complete, although soft, and will have to be worked some more in the spring. The guard rail is almost complete, the drainage is finished and part of the head walls are complete.

Route 50 Slippery After Rain, Sleet

Route 50 along Allegheny Front in the vicinity of Mt. Storm was slippery last night as a result of a freezing rain falling in that section.

West Virginia State Police at Romney reported that similar falling weather and road conditions were prevalent in the Berkeley Springs area.

Maryland State Police at LaVale reported that highways in the immediate vicinity were dry. The weatherman forecast rain mixed with sleet and possibly a bit of snow for much of the Maryland-Delaware area today.

County Seeks Legal Opinion On Bond Issue

$500,000 Sale Is Proposed

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday employed the firm of Miles, Walsh and Stockbridge to prepare an opinion on the legality of a proposed $500,000 bond issue.

The commissioners want an opinion as to whether a $350,000 school construction issue and $150,000 issue for Memorial Hospital could be combined in the same issue. Yesterday's action was taken on a unanimous vote after Commissioner C. N. Wilkinson made the necessary motion.

Since the $3,500,000 county school construction program was authorized in 1953, the county has been borrowing its school construction money from the state on a lower interest than would be available on a county bond issue.

A year ago a supplemental $800,000 school construction program also won the approval of the General Assembly, bringing total expenditures for school building to $4,300,000. Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster said last night that the county's borrowing entitlement from the state is about $3,950,000. As a consequence the final $350,000 will have to be acquired from a county bond issue.

The county already has borrowed about $3,100,000 for school construction purposes. The last will not be made available from the state until after the new fiscal year starts July 1.

Memorial Hospital needs $300,000 for construction of an addition to the nurses' home. The Mayor and City Council of Cumberland have endorsed the plan for the city to provide half of the cost. The other 50 per cent will come from the county.

William H. Lemmert, president of the Board of County Commissioners, said the bond issue probably will be sold in March if a favorable opinion comes from the law firm.

The commissioners yesterday authorized payment of $71.53 to James Sullivan for damages to the paint on his car caused while a city fireman was checking the fire extinguishers at the County Infirmary. The city is matching that amount.

William Wagner, who lives on a Braddock Road near Oldtown, asked the county commissioners to remove snow and ice from the road. The matter was referred to County Roads Supervisor J. Walker Chapman.

Baron Attacks 'Police State' Arrest Methods

Juvenile Magistrate Morris Baron for the second time in two weeks criticized methods being used by the Cumberland Police Department.

At a hearing yesterday involving a 13-year-old local boy, Baron refused to accept the charges against the youth when it was discovered he had been taken from his home at 1 a. m. and questioned for three hours concerning the breaking and entering of a Frederick Street business establishment.

Even though the arresting officer had a signed statement in which the youth admitted to the charges, Magistrate Baron refused to accept them, explaining that such a method "smacks of a police state" and is not in the American tradition.

The juvenile magistrate continued that a part of his duties was to protect the rights of citizens and he could not reconcile the admitted methods as being either legal or American.

The young boy was placed in the custody of the Allegany County Welfare Board and will be sent to the Strawbridge Home for Boys, Baron said. Explaining that he will be under strict supervision there, although able to continue his schooling at Baltimore public schools, Baron said the boy would not have qualified for admittance if the charges of breaking and entering had been sustained.

Admitting that the youth was a "bad boy," the magistrate told the arresting officer that he believed the charges were correct and that only the arresting method was being criticized.

Two weeks ago, Magistrate Baron advised the Police Department that youngsters held at the county detention home will be released after 24 hours unless warrants for them were issued within that time.

In his letter, Baron pointed out that two boys had been held there for three days before charges were filed. Such action, he informed the police, "deprives juveniles of the liberty without the due process of law."

Baron instructed Earl Grimm, superintendent of the County Infirmary, that he was not to detain any juvenile longer than 24 hours without a warrant from Juvenile Court.

The ruling, he informed Grimm, would not apply to runaways who are being held for their parents or guardians.

Cafeteria Heads Meet

All cafeteria managers in the Allegany County public schools will meet at the Board of Education building at 9:30 a. m. today with Mrs. Gladys M. Eaton, supervisor, in charge.
